Dear Customer

Well, 2021 has come and gone. The trends of 2020 stayed strong and hearth product demand continued to surge. Everything about burning a fire at home was good. We look forward to continued growth and fostering our relationships with you in 2022!

We are excited to announce that we have some neat new products:

- 4 pc. Bear Tool Set, page 4
- 3 Fold Arched Bear Fire Screen, page 4
- Deer Design Panel Screen with Doors, page 5
- Brass Hearth Products, pages 66 & 69
- Displayer Racks, pages 93 & 117

In addition, there are also new package sizes available for lava rock. See page 101.

As you can see from the photo, our family has grown in 2021! We welcomed our first grand daughter, Lucy and second grand son, Joseph (more on family news on page 128).

Our photo is from Christmas, 2021. As always, we appreciate your business and please let us know what we can do for you!

There are six small holes around the center hole. The six outer holes are used to add air for operation with liquid propane (LP). The orifice is converted to LP when the holes are exposed by backing down the washer nut (included) to expose the six holes. It is set for natural gas when the washer is tightened to cover the six holes. MUST NOT BE OPERATED CLOSER THAN 6" FROM AN OPEN FLAME.

*EACH OF THE 6 HOLES ALONG WITH THE CENTER HOLE HAS AN AREA OF 4.09 SQUARE MM.

Media such as (i.e. lava rock, lava stones, lava boulders) has the potential of thermal spalling. This is a process that may occur when media is wet and moisture gets trapped inside of the material due to rapid temperature differences. When this happens the media has the potential to crack or "pop" outside the fire feature.

WE HIGHLY RECOMMEND COVERING ALL FIRE FEATURES WHEN NOT IN USE

The use of a cover can lessen the impact of thermal spalling; however, heavy rains, high humidity, high humidity and the presence of moisture may still cause the media to pop.

ALWAYS USE CAUTION WHEN USING THE FIRE FEATURE

Extra caution should be taken when lighting a fire feature when heavy rains, high humidity and moisture are present. Light the fire feature; leave the area allowing any moisture in the media to dissipate. We strongly recommend that during this drying out time that you monitor the fire feature from a distance. This drying out period should be no less than 30 minutes. Continue monitoring the flame from distance to ensure that all popping has ceased before fully enjoying the fire.
